

STENTS WITH PROXIMAL AND DISTAL END ELEVATIONS

Abstract of the Disclosure

A prosthetic stent with a tubular wall having local inwardly or outwardly formed elevations. Stents having such elevations have a higher mechanical stability if bent according to the curvature of the body vessels to be supported or repaired. Also a method for manufacturing a stent with such elevations is described.

878200.1